

HELP SAVE A LIFE!

Jennifer Jones Austin, United Way of New York City's Senior Vice President for Community Investment, has been diagnosed with Acute Myeloid Leukemia (AML). Without a bone marrow transplant, doctors have said that her chances of survival are slim.

A bone marrow transplant requires a 100% compatible match. Because Jennifer is African American, her chance of finding a match is more difficult, and she is most likely to find a matched donor from another African American. That is why we are asking for YOUR help today.

With minimal disruption to your life, you can help Jennifer and others who desperately need bone marrow transplants.

A simple cheek swab is all that is needed to determine if YOU could be the one to save Jennifer or one of the other thousands of patients in need of a bone marrow transplant. The actual donor process – should be you be called upon – is as simple as giving blood.

Please consider joining the Be the Match Marrow Registry as a potential bone marrow donor.
